

21st Century Fund honors six

The Brookline High School 21st Century Fund's 10th Anniversary Gala will be held on Saturday, Nov. 15 at 6 p.m. at the Schluntz Gym, a fundraiser for academic programs at the high school.

Six individuals will be honored at the event. They are:

- Terry Francona, manager of the world champion Boston Red Sox and BHS parent.
- Sarah Lamb '98, principal dancer of the Royal Ballet of London and Presidential Scholar in the Arts.
- Steve Lantos '80, award-winning BHS chemistry teacher and author.
- Malcolm Lowe, concertmas-ter of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, violinist, teacher and BHS parent.

- Jonathon Riley '97, U.S. Olympic athlete, U.S. Indoor Champion distance runner and scholar.

- Liz Walker, award-winning broadcast journalist, youth minister, human rights activist, filmmaker and BHS parent.

The gala will include a cocktail reception, silent auction, a raffle, dinner and dancing. Tickets are $300-$25,000. Visit www.bhs21stcenturyfund.org for more information.

Those interested in a more intimate setting with the honorees can attend a new feature of the celebration called "Studio21: Pursuing Your Passion." From 1 to 2:30 p.m. in the BHS auditorium, each honoree will give a short speech and moderator Headmaster Robert Weintraub will ask them to "offer various perspectives on what it takes to follow your dream." BHS students will also have the opportunity to ask questions. Tickets for this event are $10.
